

A PEACE MISSION

The essential thrust of the 2005 Peace Tour was the founding of the UPF with its challenging mission to help the United Nations renew itself by engaging the collective spiritual wisdom and insight of the world's faith leaders.

Another important theme was the challenge of breaking down the barriers that divide people, as well as nations. After all, before any country can think about ending conflict and making peace, the citizens of that nation must first overcome divisions based on religion, ethnicity, culture and language.

The UPF Peace Tour arrives in Mongolia

Rejecting the concept of a 'clash of civilizations,' the UPF is working to inspire new, world changing links that bring civilizations into oneness through offering service and relief work wherever there is urgent human need.

"I ask you all to devote your best efforts for the development and success of the Universal Peace Federation," the founder, Dr. Sun Myung Moon said. "Will you join with me as I rise and gain strength in accordance with heavenly fortune? Or will you miss this chance and risk a lifetime of regret?"

UPF Chairman Dr. Chung Hwan Kwak is welcomed to Sri Lanka by President Mahinda Rajapaksa

"The ideal of peace proposed by Dr. Moon implies a transformation of the effort for world peace beyond politics to become a global, cross-cultural and inter-religious movement."
